Vision

Mochi.Market envisions to be the multi-chain decentralized exchange ecosystem for non-fungible tokens (“NFT”).

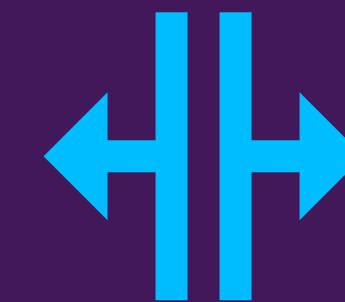

What the early NFT adopters are saying

Buying an NFT is expensive (high ticket size) and costly (high transaction fee)

Holding NFT is not profitable (not a yielding asset, no utility for NFTs)

It is difficult to sell an NFT (not enough liquidity)

Friction costs and untapped participants (lack of interoperability)

Users wanting to buy/sell

Lack of interoperability

Costly Transaction Fees

The main industry challenges

- High transaction fees (on Ethereum)
- Large ticket size
- Illiquid assets
- Interoperability of blockchain: lack of connectivity between NFT platforms

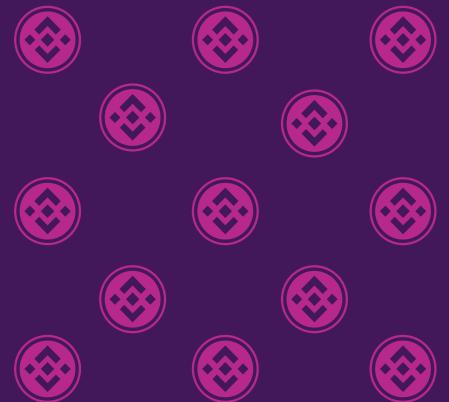

What we bring to the table

An economy where NFT want-to-owns do not feel being left out - Everyone can buy it:

Fractionalization

Low transaction fee
options

Decentralized Exchange

An economy where NFT holders do not feel being left out for holding NFT - Holding incentives:

- Lending
- Staking

An economy where NFT and Fungible tokens (“FT”) are seamlessly intersecting across multiple blockchains - Interoperability.

The Main Meal - Mochi Market Solutions

Go-To Market Strategy

Given the recent global mainstream media and personalities spotlight on NFTs in general, Mochi.Market is well positioned to ride in the industry's growth by taking active part in solving some of the real problems and challenges that the industry face at the moment.

The main initial commercial focus is to connect DeFi and NFT, in so doing, leveraging the best of both worlds. Mochi.Market initially aims to solve three important current challenges: lack of liquidity in the NFT market, lack of monetization strategy for NFT holders during their holding period, and lack of cross-chain usage between NFTs and FTs.

Initial Phase

- Mochi.Market launch
- DeFi and NFT focus
- Building market awareness and community

Development Phase

- Feature development.
- Beyond DeFi
- Cross chain capability

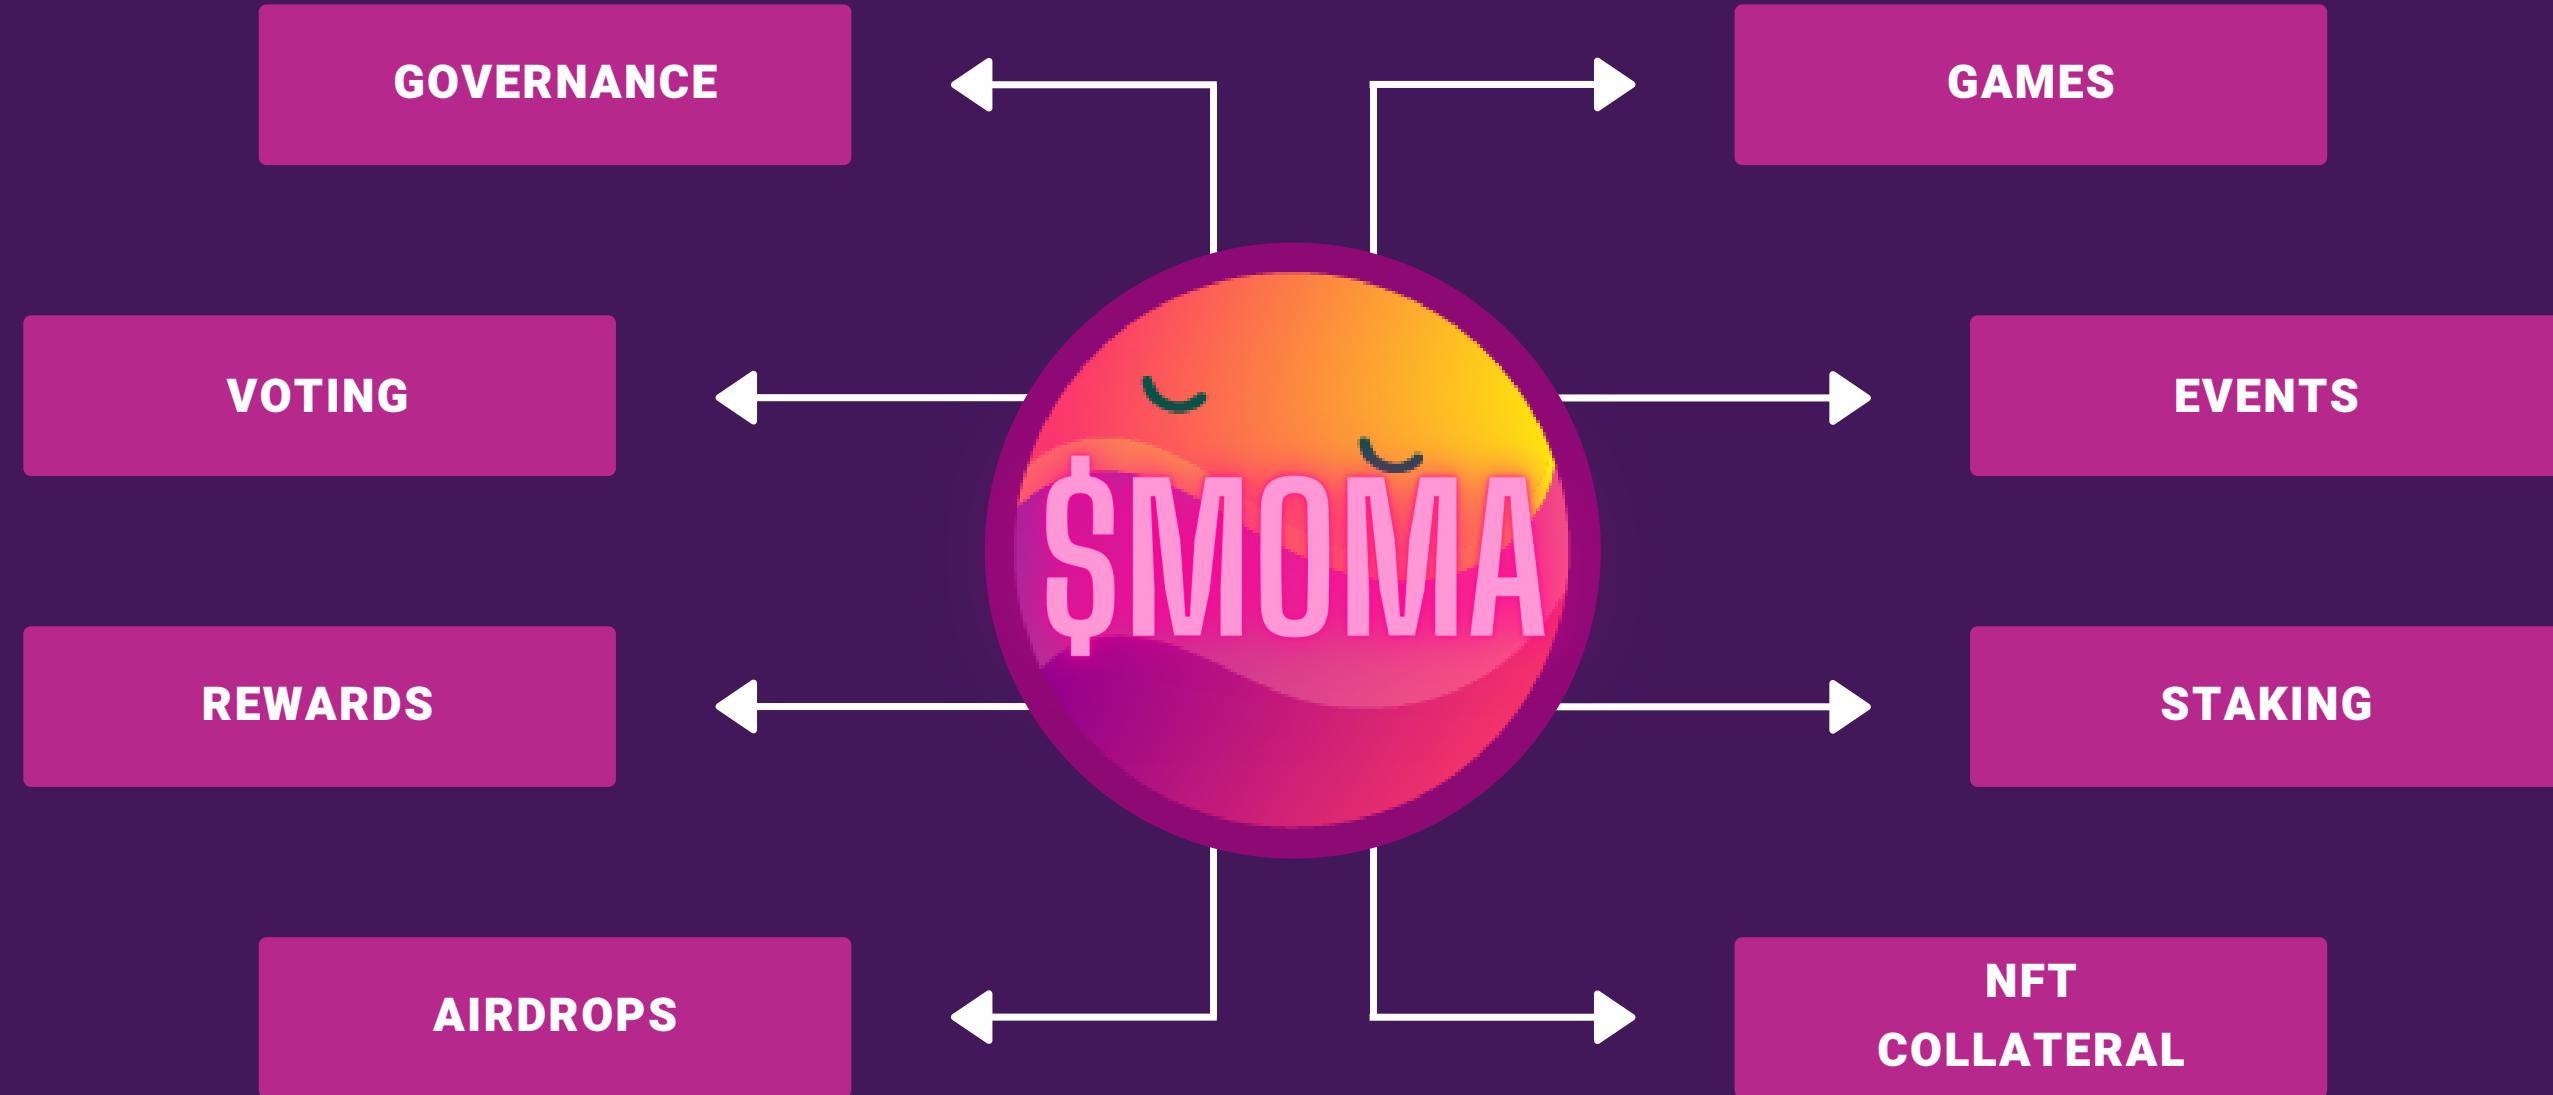

Expansion Phase

- User growth
- Integration
- Mass adoption and usage
